Defence Health signs up to THELMA

Defence Health, which provides health insurance and complementary products to the wider defence community, has joined THELMA's national customer base through the signing of a three year User Agreement.

Defence Health has over 60,000 memberships covering over 150,000 people based in every Australian State and Territory, making it one of the few truly national private health funds.

Defence Health is one of the 23 health benefits organisations that use the HAMBS member management software. The integration of the HAMBS software to THELMA was completed earlier this year, and electronic hospital claims and eligibility checking are currently being rolled out across the HAMBS funds.
